Homewatch sign - Mr Harvey will take the matter in hand.

Speed Camera - Inspector Rush will organise a radar watch at an appropriate place and time.

Application for E Wright -an extension at Oakwood Farm was awaiting a decision. Permission was refused to Mr P Davis for 2 plots adjacent Church Farm Barns. He has since appealed and any objections have to be sent to the Inspector within 6 weeks. The Parish Council will be replying strongly to the Inspector stating that in objecting to this application, they are doing their statutory duty to the Planning Authority and to the wishes of the majority of the parishioners.

Village Appraisal: Some discussion resulted in defining a need for enthusiastic volunteers to help complete parts of the action plan. Many of the points were changed from short term to ongoing.

Finance: The clerk received permission to change accounts to try to get more interest on the deposit account. The financial report was circularised, explained and accepted. Payment was approved for the Clerk's expenses. The audit of accounts would soon be complete and available for inspection. Dates to be posted up. The Village Hall Committee requested a letter from the PC indemnifying a loan in order to receive further grant aid for the building of the extension. This was duly given.

July Review - The Thirty-Nine Steps by John Buchan

The book was written in 1915 and starts with the main character, Richard Hannay, bemoaning the fact that "having made a modest pile" as a mining engineer in South Africa he has returned to London in his early 40's with nothing to do except "luncheon" and "dine" in various upper class establishments.

Luckily for him, on his return home one night, he is approached by a total stranger, an American agent called Scudder, who informs Hannay that Europe is on the brink of an enormous diplomatic incident should a proposed assassination attempt on a senior figure be successful.

Hannay invites Scudder to seek refuge and on returning home the following evening finds him murdered on the drawing room floor. Intent on solving the riddle of who is behind the impending assassination attempt, Hannay takes Scudder's little note-book of secrets (not so secret that Hannay could not easily find it however!) and instead of going to the police (which would have made it an extremely short story) he flees London and finds himself a desperate man on the run hotly pursued by both the police and the vigilantes behind the proposed assassination attempt.

The book is full of derring-do in a Famous Five sort of way and although he doesn't have "lashings of ginger beer" he does make comments like "he seemed an honest stout fellow - I liked the cut of his jib" or words to that effect! The language used was incredibly dated and the plot totally implausible - that so many strangers should unquestioningly take in and feed a man clearly on the run... and, my favourite, where he crashes in on a dinner party, accuses the assembled company that they are a bunch of murderous spies and, after they deny it, sits down for a glass of brandy and hand of bridge with them to deliberate.

Our verdict - a very quick read, you'll enjoy it if you like Boy's Own type stories and a good laugh (unintentionally) if you don't. You will be disappointed, as we were, that only the film version has him climbing Big Ben's tower and hanging perilously off the hands of the clock.

Come and join us on the first Thursday of each month. You will see from this review that some of us don't always take the books very seriously. All you need is a few moments to read a book and a few hours on the first Thursday of each month to spend in the Old Workhouse Bar drinking and discussing it...or drinking and listening to others discuss it!

Kay Gordon

BECK WOMENS INSTITUTE

Mrs Hilda Bond was our speaker on 11th July. She has been a WI member for over 30 years and obviously enjoys demonstrating her art to the various branches.

Heading her subject "Cookery", Hilda showed us how to make five mouth-watering sweets using Summer fruits mixed with cream, fromage frais or Greek yoghurt. With the finished sweets beautifully presented, Hilda invited us to taste them all. This we willingly did and all agreed they tasted even better than they looked.

Hilda was then asked to judge the Unusual Sandwiches brought in by members. 1st - Jennifer. She used a filling of tinned mackerel and tomato sauce, with horseradish and cucumber. 2nd - Margaret. Her sandwich was filled with pilchards and cream cheese with a dash of HP sauce.

Margaret won the raffle. Aleathia reminded us of the invitation to visit WI House in Norwich any day from 13th to 21st August, 10 a.m. to 3.30 p.m.

At our next meeting on Monday 8th August, the talk is entitled "Decline of Wool and Rise of Silk" and we are asked to bring 'something silk'. Hope to see you. 7.30 p.m. in Sparham's Old School Room. MARY HUMPHREY

WENSUM VALLEY BIRDWATCHING SOCIETY

The Nightjar: 'An eerie, fascinating and beautiful creature'

Taking advantage of our somewhat unpredictable summer we had two outdoor meetings in June. The first was a bird race, in which teams compete to identify as many species as possible in an allotted time. This was an excellent day with notable sightings of Wood Lark, Honey Buzzard and Nightjar. The winning team managed to observe 82 species. Later in the month we had a Nightjar evening. Starting at Dersingham Bog (a small nature reserve within the Sandringham Royal Estate) we had excellent views of Tree Pipits but the Wood Larks proved elusive. Later we retired to the Feathers Hotel in Dersingham for some sustenance, returning to the Bog at dusk when we saw Woodcocks and later Nightjars in flight and sitting on overhead cables. A thoroughly enjoyable evening. Thanks to Ray Gribble for organising.

Just to show how organised we are, following the talk on Pensthorpe in July we visit the reserve on Saturday August 6th. Set in 500 acres of beautiful countryside near Fakenham, Pensthorpe Park is home to one of Europe's finest collection of endangered and exotic birds. It is accessible to wheelchair users, has a shop café and the usual facilities. Not to be missed. Meet in the car park at 10 a.m. There is an admission charge but our worthy leader is hoping to negotiate a group rate.

Our August indoor meeting is Thursday 18th at Lenwade Village Hall. Charles Fox will give a presentation entitled 'The Gambia Experience'. Start at 7.30, non members £2. Newcomers are welcome, refreshments available.

HEALTH KINESIOLOGY

Your Key to Health

A holistic therapy, combining Chinese Medicine with Western techniques, muscle testing finds blockages in the body's energy, gentle techniques release them.

Health Kinesiology taps into the body's energy system identifying "stresses" using verbal questioning and relieves them using acupuncture points. Stresses are caused by allergies, nutritional deficiencies, psychological fears, physical trauma from accidents or surgery, environmental pollution such as electromagnetic fields generated by electrical equipment. Normally the body rebalances itself naturally, but sometimes it gets confused needing help, With Allergies muscle response reveals the body's likes and dislikes, correcting these stops the diet from becoming too restricted. Health Kinesiology can provide insight and solutions where other treatments have failed.

My clients have many problems - allergies, acne, candida, IBS, fibromyalgia, arthritis, fatigue, skin problems, PMS, menopause, anxiety, stress, migraines, panic attacks, thyroid problems - the list is endless.

ST. THOMAS' FOXLEY P.C.C.

We shall all remember the blazing heat on "Foxley in Flower" Day, but it was fortuitous for the church, where people could enjoy the floral displays and the appropriate background music in an agreeably cool atmosphere!

The decorations, "A Floral Tapestry", were in keeping with the splendid display of newly-created hassocks arranged on the altar steps. Visitors were so impressed with the beautiful original designs (thanks to Monica Hatch, Anne Cornie and Robin Taylor), and expert workmanship. On the rails hung the (as yet un-made up) altar kneelers, embroidered by Monica, depicting the symbols of the church's patron St. Thomas the Apostle, St. Thomas a Beckett, to whom there was dedicated a little Guild chapel where the pulpit now is, and the Saints on the painted screen. These were sponsored by Mrs. Vivienne Marsh in memory of her parents Jack and Phyllis Buxton, stalwarts of Foxley Church for many years.

The flower arrangements were interpretations of the nature of tapestry and were interestingly varied and eye-catching. Gladys and Tracey Dewing's "Foxley", in orange and yellow flowers, even featured in the Dereham and Fakenham Times!

Our thanks to Nigel Hatch and Nan Garrod who greeted visitors and explained the work being carried out by Mr. Jo Dawes to various pews and pieces of woodwork.

We are so grateful for our share of the proceeds of the event and to all who helped. Thanks also to Bill Waller who repaired some crumbling stonework by the porch and to Richard Johnson for his grass-mowing, so that the outside of the church was also fit to be seen!

Diana Harvey
P.C.C. Secretary.

ALL SAINTS CHURCH, BAWDESWELL

Hopefully by the time you read this, the re-wiring of the church will be completed. It has proved to be a much longer job than anticipated and thankfully for us was at an agreed price.

We now have a safer church and one which complies with modern electrical safety standards.

At the same time we have installed a hearing aid Induction Loop system to help those with hearing difficulties and comply with the Disability Act .

Whilst this work was going on, the weather dislodged another piece of wood from the spire and urgent repairs had to be put in hand by a couple of steeplejacks – young Fred Dibners.

None of this comes cheap and we are so grateful to the fundraising efforts of the Church Friends when it comes to such emergencies.

In August our new regular service pattern comes into force, i.e. all services in Bawdeswell at 10am every Sunday.

We hope this will make it easier for everyone. We will miss our monthly evening service of Words & Praise which many of us have come to love, but this will continue as a morning service on the same (second) Sunday of every month and may even replace the traditional Morning Prayer on the third Sunday if this can be agreed by all. See the back of this magazine for August and September service details.

The church will be manned on Saturday 10th September for the annual Norfolk Churches Trust Sponsored Cycle Ride. It is a great opportunity to visit our heritage of historic churches around the county, many of which are normally locked.

Our Harvest Festival is to be on Sunday 18th September, the weekend of the Church Friends' annual Ceilidh & Barn Dance.

Both events are something to look forward to.

It is also the weekend of a Flower Festival in Sparham Church.

Confirmation classes will begin in September. If you are interested, please contact the Rector on 01603 872381. The confirmation will take place early in 2006.

From the Quiet Day on 11th June, a Poem by Diane Nicholson.

Wrapped up in our own discontent,
We are blind to the beauty around.
Weary and burdened we trudge through each day,
Longing for meaning, longing for rest.
God's heart breaks as He watches our struggles.
Arms open wide He invites us to trust;
From the centre of His pain hope is reborn.
Our eyes and ears are opened to endless possibilities.
One step at a time the future unfolds.
Hand and hand with God there is comfort,
There is joy even through pain.
Hand and hand with God we can offer hope to the world.

From the Rector

Dear Everybody, hello again.

A friend of mine was being interviewed by a New York-based radio station, shortly after the bombs went off in London. He was asked: "Why do people do acts like this?", and answered: "Because of fundamentalism." "I agree, it's all the fault of Islamic fundamentalism", said the interviewer. "No," my friend jumped in, "I didn't say Islamic, I said fundamentalism."

This was fighting talk, when you consider that many fundamentalists of any religion do not think of themselves as dangerous. They often don't want other people to have freedoms of which they don't approve; wanting to silence free speech and regulate people's behaviour. But they don't see themselves as killers, rather as orderly people.

From one standpoint, my friend was right. The problem is fundamentalism, because fundamentalists will always be at war with liberal values. But from a fundamentalist's point of view, the problem is liberal values, which allow people to make mistakes too freely. There are people who passionately believe that freedom is less important than being right, even if they have been given freedoms in the society in which they live that they would deny to others.

When the Queen, after the explosions, said that the bombers would not be able to threaten our way of life, she was right: we are even more determined to assert the value of the freedoms that we have. But this must include the right of minorities to exist peaceably among us. Most of us in this country are the result of successive waves of invasion and immigration: Romans and their armies, Anglo-Saxons, Danes, Normans, European Protestants fleeing persecution, African slaves, Jews fleeing persecution, workers from around the world.

We have a society which has many strands. Fundamentalism suggests that there is only one strand that matters. Some fundamentalists separate themselves from society in order to have purity; others try to change society, either by growing in numbers or by direct action. Our society is now composed of people not only from different bloodlines and backgrounds but with different ideas. How is there going to be room for all of us?

God bless you in your building up of our society

David Head
